DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., appeared at a news conference Friday night under police protection after what he said was a telephoned threat on his life because of his criticisms of Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas.

Griffin declined to give details of the threat, except that it concerned the Fortas criticisms and was received by his Detroit office in a telephone call Wednesday.

A number of policemen in plainclothes guarded the senator who was in Detroit to attend a Republican dinner.

Griffin last fall led a successful fight to block nomination of Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court.

This week he joined U.S. Rep. Robert A. Taft, Jr., R-Ohio, in introducing a bill to require federal judges to disclose their outside income.

Griffin told newsmen, "I indicated several days ago, in response to a direct question, that there was more incriminating information which might come" in regard to the Fortas case.

"Since then, my office in Detroit tells me that my life has been threatened," Griffin said.

ON JUSTICE FORTAS, "I have the feeling that unless he explains further, impeachment is a good possibility," says Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, in Washington. With him is Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich. Taft and Griffin said they plan to introduce a bill requiring federal judges to file income information as a result of the Wolfson family fee situation and Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas.

National Guard Clears Out Zap

ZAP, N.D. (AP) — More than 500 National Guardsmen and teams of police moved through this North Dakota village today, trying to clear out an estimated 3,000 young persons who invaded Zap for a weekend of revelry.

"The town is seemingly in flames," said Maj. Gen. La Clair A. Melhouse, adjutant general of the National Guard. "One bar is completely wrecked. The glass in most of the windows on store fronts has been broken. Debris clutters the streets."

"They wrecked the whole town," said the Mercer County sheriff, Ivan Stiefel.

Sheriff's and Highway Patrol officers attempted to seal off Zap, an out-of-the-way hamlet usually with a population of 30 persons, but sightseers and students continued to head for the "Zap-in" activities.

From across the country and from Canada, college students arrived Friday at the heralded "Fort Lauderdale of the North."

The "Zap-in" began as a tongue-in-cheek invitation to the most unlikely place in North Dakota by the North Dakota State University newspaper that suggested the first annual gathering. The idea caught on and grew.

Sheriff Stiefel said there were some injuries and some arrests. National Guardsmen from units throughout the state gathered at nearby Beulah in the predawn hours today and 500 of them moved into Zap at daybreak under direction of law enforcement officials.

Melhouse said their purpose was to clear the town and restore order.

Officials said only residents of the Zap area would be allowed into the town today. Stiefel estimated about 3,000 persons were in Zap this morning.

Build Fires

Disturbances apparently grew after an abandoned town building was dismantled and the wooden planks used for a bonfire late Friday.

Mayor Norman Fuchs, who later asked that the town be sealed off, said then, "I just don't know about this darn fire in the middle of Main Street."

When the volunteer fire department arrived, about 20 youths jumped on the truck and began to disassemble it. One youth grabbed the hose and made for Lucky's tavern but Fuchs cautioned him to go back to drinking. The student did.

Long hair, sideburns, mustaches, hillbilly hats, bellbottoms, and related items from the current college scene were in abundance. One homestate product from Fargo came in loafers, white ducks, a straw panama hat and a grey West Point dress coat.

Most of the arrivals were male—with about one out of 10 females among Friday night's Zap-inners.

U.S. Will Discuss Peace Proposal With N. Vietnam

Marines Batter 600 Confused N. Viet Troops

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines, fighter-bombers and artillery battered as many as 600 North Vietnamese troops in an area south of Da Nang military spokesmen reported today.

After a daylong stream of fire from Marines sweeping through the area Friday and bombardment by planes the Marines reported counting the bodies of 129 North Vietnamese soldiers.

Marine casualties were put at six killed and 12 wounded. "I don't understand them (the enemy's) tactics," said Col. William J. Zaro, of San Antonio, Tex., who directed the Marine assault that included about 1,500 riflemen and three tanks. "They have lost a lot of people in that area and they keep coming back. They must be in bad need of their rice there."

U.S. officers said they thought the North Vietnamese commander, probably a high-ranking officer, had been killed during the air and artillery strikes because the enemy troops appeared to be running about in all directions, trying to escape the massive American firepower.

The area where the fighting occurred is about 18 miles southwest of Da Nang. Enemy troops have operated there for several years despite countless allied operations. American fighter-bombers returning from missions elsewhere use the area as a dumping ground for unspent bombs and rockets.

Less than two weeks ago, U.S. Marines killed 60 North Vietnamese soldiers in a day of fierce fighting in the territory, while suffering nine Marines killed and 80 wounded.

The U.S. Command announced the loss to enemy fire of an American observation helicopter near the Cambodian border, with three men aboard wounded. It raised to 2,609 the number of U.S. helicopters reported lost in the Vietnam war.

Terrorists set off two mines in a market place in a Mekong Delta town 60 miles southwest of Saigon, killing three Vietnamese civilians and one government soldier and wounding seven other soldiers.

Saints Removal Causing Furore Among Catholics

NEW YORK (AP) — The discovery of America might well have been a saint's name at Pasquale Columbus or Rocco Columbus if the Vatican had realigned its roster of saints in the 15th century instead of the 20th.

Every Roman Catholic child must be given a saint's name at baptism, according to Church rules, and the Columbus family would have had to choose some name other than Christopher.

For Christopher, Barbara, Alexis, Anastasia and a whole litany of almost 60 names were stricken Friday from the Roman Catholic calendar of annual feastdays in honor of individual saints.

Pope Paul VI issued a decree setting up a new calendar effective Jan. 1. The Vatican explained why some saints were removed—not for any doubt about their sanctity but doubt that they ever existed at all.

Keep Names

The Vatican, obviously aware of the furore in many quarters a few years ago when the popular female saint Philomena was stricken from the lists, acknowledged that the newest action would pose "an extremely delicate problem" for many Catholics.

No one will have to change his name, and no church named for one of the devaluated saints will have to chisel new letters in stone above rededicated portals.

But the impact on the personal pride and spiritual psychology of many a man or woman who bears the name of a long-revered saint now declared fictional could be something else again.

"Saint" is a title given to persons recognized by the Catholic Church as being in heaven and worthy of honor. Popular devotion often spread a cult of holiness around a name in the early centuries, when sainthood by acclamation was fairly common. Later the making of saints became a Church-regulated undertaking that came only after long investigation of personal virtues and was done in lavish ceremonies at the Vatican.

Difficult Lucies

When a specific day each year is designated a saint's feast day, it means that Masses throughout the world that day include a special remembrance of that particular saint. Some authoritative works of hagiography—study of the saints—list more than 2,500 declared saints. The Lucies of the world can relax. The Lucia who was stricken with a Sept. 16 feastday, not the more famous Sicilian martyr of the 4th century whose feastday is Dec. 13.

The loss of St. Barbara was a harder blow, yet the New Catholic Encyclopedia of 1967 notes that data about her comes from "a legend composed in the 7th century."

No Unilateral Pullout: Agnew

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The United States will not withdraw unilaterally from South Vietnam, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Friday.

Agnew addressed a cheering crowd of 3,000 at a $10 a plate fund raising dinner for the Oklahoma Republican party.

In discussing recent events in Vietnam, the vice president said a unilateral withdrawal would not be in the "ultimate interests" of the nation.

"The people don't want the United States to create a vacuum that would bring chaos," he said.

Agnew also said peace demonstrations had delayed the end of the Vietnam war by giving the enemy "the impression that this country is weak and divided and ready to fall."

"In my judgment, the war in Vietnam would be over today," he said, "if we could simply stop the demonstrations on streets in the United States."

The former Maryland governor called for an end to disorder on college campuses and said the United States is not ready to run up the "white flag" and surrender to totalitarian forces inside or outside the country.

"The best thing to do with student rioters is to turn them through a car wash," he said.

Agnew left immediately after his speech for Key Biscayne, Fla., to confer with the President.

Golden Spike Century Ago

PROMONTORY, Utah (AP) — The re-enactment of the driving of the golden spike that linked the first transcontinental railroad will highlight the 100th anniversary of the event Saturday.

The original golden spike was tapped in on May 10, 1869, marking completion of a rail line from Omaha to Sacramento, Saturday's ceremony will be on the same spot.

The original linkup climaxed seven years of bitter rivalry between the participating railroads—the Union Pacific, which had built westward, and the Central Pacific, which had built eastward.

Rogers Declares Some Elements Unacceptable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has told North Vietnam and National Liberation Front representatives it would like to talk about the 10-point proposal made in Paris by the Viet Cong for settlement of the Vietnam war.

High U.S. officials making this known said the preliminary American response did not go beyond Secretary of State William P. Rogers' statement late Friday.

"It contains some clearly unacceptable proposals, but there are elements in it which may offer a possibility for exploration," Rogers said in the first Nixon administration response to the Viet Cong proposal.

He emphasized that the position taken by the Communist side Thursday in Paris will require careful study and clarification.

In the view of high authorities here, the proposal does contain new features which give a promise of some forward movement in the peace negotiations.

Going To Saigon

Rogers, who leaves for Saigon on Monday, declared he would consult closely with Vietnamese leaders, including President Nguyen Van Thieu, to determine if the Viet Cong program represents a serious response to earlier U.S. and South Vietnam peace proposals.

South Vietnam already has rejected parts of the NFL program which would set up a coalition "peace" government pending general elections throughout the country.

The Rogers statement declared: "We believe that the right of self-determination for the people of South Vietnam must be respected unconditionally. This is the core of the issue in Vietnam."

Discuss Proposals

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge conferred with Nguyen Xuan Phong of the South Vietnamese delegation Friday in Paris about the Viet Cong plan. It is presumed they discussed the South Vietnamese attack on part of the proposal.

The South Vietnamese government said it would be willing to discuss several other points in the NFL program such as prisoner exchanges, re-establishment of the demilitarized zone and respect for the 1962 agreement on Laos.

Rogers in his statement did not specify what parts of the NFL program were "clearly unacceptable."

Probe Foot Surgery Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has summoned the State Board of Registration in Podiatry for a meeting Wednesday to discuss a doctor's claim that vagrants were lured to Civic Hospital in Detroit for training on foot surgery.

The investigation follows a Detroit foot doctor, that he had affidavits from nine men that they were taken to the hospital for foot surgery by trainees by promising them $10 bills, free wine and cigarettes.

Ryan Told To Resign Over Parochial 'Deal'

LANSING (AP)—Girding for the coming floor fight over parochial aid and the public school budget, House leaders Friday got in their last practice swings by replying to intraparty charges of an "understanding" with Republican Gov. William Milliken.

House Speaker William Ryan, D-Detroit, called "illogical" the suggestion by one Democratic faction that he and others in leadership resign because of failure to support the official party opposition to parochial aid.

Ryan, chief backer of a parochial aid section added to a revised school aid bill, rebutted charges by Al Fishman, chairman of the New Democratic Coalition. Fishman said some Democrats made a deal with the Milliken Administration to ensure acceptance of parochial aid in exchange for a school budget within the governor's guidelines.

Not Enough Votes

"No one party has the votes for new revenue" necessary to raise the school appropriation, Ryan said. "We will be back in the fall and cooperate in efforts to raise it."

As to the charge he should resign his post, Ryan said Fishman's "logic is bad there, too. You can't logically ask a statutory officeholder to quit when people elect him to decide what is or is not good law."

Ryan and his floor leader, George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, notified legislators the school bill would be up for debate Monday without preliminary discussion.

They said that would avoid the necessity of debating each amendment as many as three times before a meaningful vote.

Instead, all voting from the start of discussion will be a matter of record. "Everybody seems to want that," Ryan said, "otherwise we'd never get through it."

Denial

Some 50 amendments are expected to be offered to the bill's first section, which allocates $845.4 million to some 600 public school districts. At least two complete substitute bills were being prepared, leaders said, one to raise the public school section, another to eliminate the parochial aid section.

Meanwhile, other Democrats on the House Appropriations Committee denied reports that they had cut the bill by $36 million either to curry favor for parochial aid or spike it.

Rep. William Copeland, D-Detroit, said an "allegation that the bill... is $36 million under the request is utter nonsense perhaps motivated by emotional attitude relating to the parochial aid issue."

At his regular Friday news conference, floor leader Montgomery called "unfortunate references to me by name." The implication "that members didn't know what they were voting for is quite unfair," Montgomery said.

Students Told To Search For Truth

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — To honor young people, the president of Hamline University pledges to "slouch a bit, wait an extra week between haircuts and pull in a sagging waistline."

"More than that," President Richard P. Bailey said at an honors convocation Thursday "I shall revert to the honesty which I once had before I began compromising for a living."

Bailey called upon students to avoid falling into the ruts of tradition and conformity. He encouraged them not to lose hope and to "cut through facts and trivia until you find the truth."

"We may not listen to you, we may patronize you, fool you, even beat you over the head and jail you," the university president said. "But in the back of the mind of even the most reactionary of us there is respect and admiration for you."

To Stop Protesters In Chambers: Propose Senate Disaster Plan

LANSING (AP) — The chairman of the Senate committee investigating campus disorders called Friday for a "disaster plan" to handle any attempt by protesters to take over the Senate chamber.

Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, cited a recent takeover of the Colorado Senate and said a check with legislative leaders showed Michigan had no plan of defense if it happened here.

If the "great unwashed" tried a similar demonstration in Michigan, he said, "we certainly ought to know exactly what we're going to do."

McCarthyism

Huber revealed the disaster plan proposal during a news conference on action of his committee during its four months of work.

The interim report—billed as an attempt to allay fears of those who believed "the Legislature is flinching while the state's higher education system is burning"—included a promise that the committee would not engage in "witchhunting or McCarthyism" as critics had suggested.

A "key point" in the investigation, Huber said, would be a check into the possibility of subversiveness on campuses.

No Proof

"There are some subversive elements operating on campuses," said committee member George Kuhn, R-Birmingham.

Asked if that information were outlined in a State Police briefing to a closed committee session, Huber said:

"I'm not in a position to discuss the State Police report. We must respect the confidence that has been expressed to us."

"We haven't proved anything yet," Huber added.

The committee was moving "very cautiously, very slowly to see that what we do is within the boundaries of the United States and state constitutions," he said.

"I have nothing earthshaking to tell you. We're beginning to probe," hours and hours of work," he said pointing to a two-inch thick stack of reports and testimony from some 60 persons. "That's all we have."

Huber announced that Dr. Tom Emmet, president of the Higher Education Executive Associates of Detroit, representing a consortium of educators throughout the nation, would be working with the committee.

In addition, Huber said, a group of some 40 educators and students would act as an advisory body to the Senate committee.

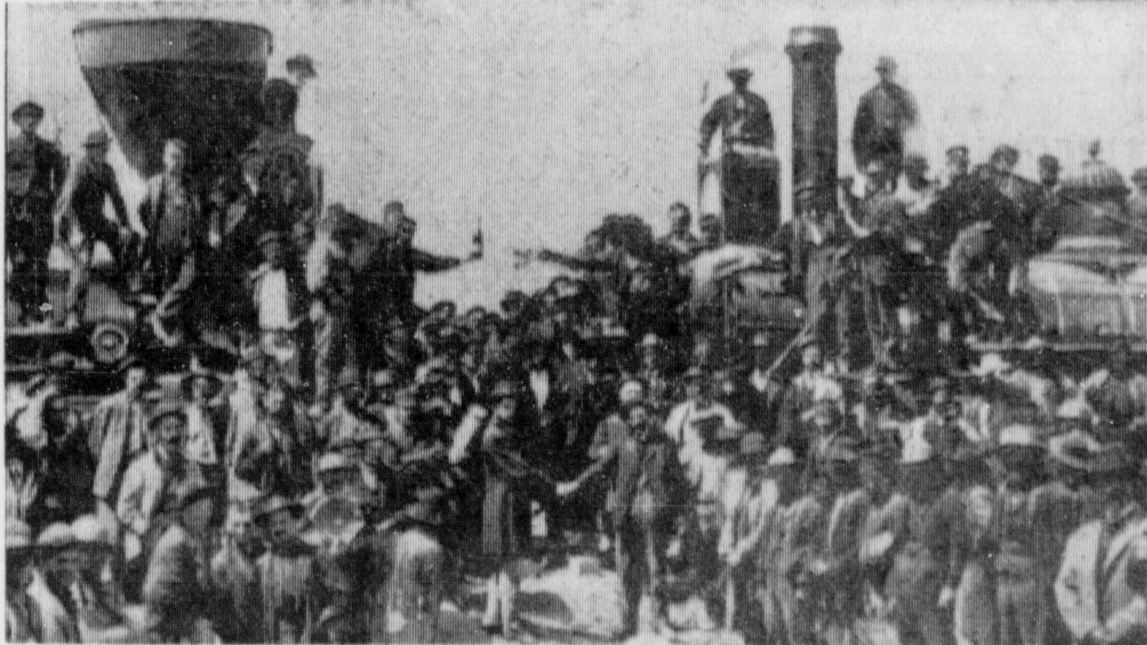

Huber said the committee also would:

—Solicit funds from "major foundations" to supplement the $25,000 in legislative money appropriated to conduct the study.

—Develop a "workable definition of the role of higher education institutions."

—Obtain facts relative to the situation as it now exists on the campuses... (including) the amount of unrest, the depth and pattern of that unrest and the causes of that unrest."

—Propose legislation for consideration in the 1970 legislative session.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
Women, a new study has found, appear to need less sleep than men, and people in their 70's require less than those in their 60's. Some 72 per cent of those surveyed slept less than the traditional eight hours a night, and five per cent said they averaged nine hours or more.

A survey by the New York Visitors Bureau has disclosed that more than 50 per cent of married men attending conventions now bring along the little woman. ## Spry At 103

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Richard H. Jackson, the nation's oldest admiral, celebrated his 103rd birthday today. His recipe for a long life is "taking things easy."
His housekeeper for 27 years, Mrs. Charles Bucey, says the 5-foot-5 admiral has been slowing down but still is remarkably spry. He stopped golfing at 95 and quit gardening at 98. Mrs. Bucey said she had to take his bicycle away when he was 91 "because people told me he wasn't stopping at stop signs."

MSU's Prexy Calls For Curriculum Overhauling

EAST LANSING (AP) — The acting president of Michigan State University has called for a major overhaul of the university's curriculum "to remove decision making from the streets" and place it in the hands of scholars.
Walter Adams, an MSU economics professor, made his plea Thursday at a special meeting of the academic Senate. He said no immediate action was taken but added the proposal probably would come before the board of trustees next week.
"I think it is gratuitous to tell you that a system which refuses to reform itself becomes increasingly vulnerable to revolutionary attack," Adams declared.
"If a system is inherently healthy, if it shows a congenital willingness for self-examination and self-renewal, if it displays a structural capacity to institute change and reform, it by the same token immunizes itself from the destructive force of an attacking virus."
Adams said he has agreed to offer the pair a new hearing if they desire. This follows a recommendation of MSU's Academic Council after a two-day meeting on the subject.
Declaring that "history cannot wait," Adams told the academic senate that a long-range program must be adopted by MSU to grapple with what he termed the "urgent and irrepressible crisis on the home front — the crisis of our urban society."

Nixon Officials Keep Tabs On Hospital Strike

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — President Nixon will have observers in Charleston to report developments in the seven-week strike of Negro nurses aides, orderlies and food service workers against two hospitals. The strike has become a national civil rights and labor issue.
The President advised congressmen Friday that he has directed Atty. Gen. John W. Mitchell to send Justice Department officials to Charleston.
Twenty congressmen had urged Nixon April 29 to send a representative to Charleston so that those "who feel they have no stake in our society will know that the President stands with them." But the President replied that he questioned "whether the presence of a presidential representative... would aid in a fair resolution of the controversy under the circumstances."
The 400 workers who are striking the South Carolina Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital are asking union recognition and a pay raise of an unspecified amount above their $1.30 to $2.05 an hour. The hospitals, which are still operating, say that as governmental agencies they can't bargain with a union.

Cambodia To Recognize NLF

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Cambodian chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said Friday night he established full diplomatic relations with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front "because the front represents the South Vietnamese state of the future."
The Cambodian Foreign Ministry announced earlier in the day that the NLF mission in Phnom Penh would be recognized as a full-scale embassy.
Sihanouk told a news conference Cambodia's diplomatic recognition of the NLF "gives juridical value to the front's recognition of Cambodia's existing frontiers with South Vietnam."

the inner city ghettos, which are populated mostly by Negroes.
He called for a search for educational techniques that would provide "effective communication with the urban masses or America" and reach gifted students "who have been denied for a variety of historical reasons the traditional preparation for university studies."
He added:
"We must search for a more profound understanding of how students learn, so that we can teach them more effectively—and thus provide them with an equal access to the pluralistic mainstream of American life."

Brown Sees End To Racial Bias

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission predicts the Nixon administration will demonstrate a "substantial commitment" to civil rights enforcement by the end of the year.
William H. Brown III said he invites "everybody to watch us" to see that progress is made toward ending racial bias in employment.
"I have no doubt that a year from now the administration will show it has a substantial commitment in the field," said Brown, a Negro from Philadelphia.
The 39-year-old lawyer, named chairman of the key civil rights agency earlier this week by President Nixon, made his remarks in an interview.
His nomination had been stalled temporarily by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who later dropped his opposition.
In doing so, however, Dirksen promised he would be watching Brown to see that he doesn't harass businessmen—an accusation the Illinois senator made against Brown's predecessor, Clifford L. Alexander Jr.
"I hope Sen. Dirksen does watch us," said Brown. "I would hope that everybody will be watching us."

Award Model Cities Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seattle, Atlanta and Waco, Tex., have been awarded the first contracts—all told, about $15 million—in the Model Cities program.
Secretary George Romney of the Department of Housing and Urban Development made the announcement Friday.

The program has a potential of some 150 cities in 45 states and Puerto Rico.
Atlanta's project includes 48,000 people in six neighborhoods, an area with a 15 per cent unemployment rate. The city's initial contract is for $7.17 million.
The Seattle contract is $5.2 million and is to be applied in a 2.25 square mile center city area.
In Waco, the $2.64 million contract covers a plan for 15,000 people whose unemployment average is three times the city rate.

McNeely Says Democrats 'Have The Votes' For '70

The State Democratic Party sent its top brass into Escanaba Friday as part of a six-day blitz through the Upper Peninsula designed to get the party moving on plans for the 1970 elections in Michigan.

State Chairman James McNeely of East Lansing was joined by National Committeeman Neil Staebler of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Patti Knox of Detroit, the party's vivacious vice chairman, in a dinner rally hosted by the Delta County Democratic Committee at the Sherman Hotel.

State and county party citations were presented Nicholas P. Chapchick, former prosecuting attorney, and Mrs. Ann Villeneuve, former county treasurer, in recognition of "long and distinguished service" to the people of Delta County and the Democratic party.

Strength Emphasized
McNeely said the Democratic Party suffered several "great disappointments" in the Upper Peninsula in the 1968 elections, including loss of the congressional election and two legislative contests, but emphasized there also were strengths that showed up.

"The votes are here," he said, pointing out that Democratic Presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey carried the Upper Peninsula and that other Democratic candidates came home winners.

"I think all Democrats have to do is to look at that fact," he said.

Mrs. Knox echoed his sentiments. "Michigan is a Democratic state," she said. "The 11th Congressional District is a Democratic District. I feel that we'll take it back in 1970."

Mrs. Knox said she came to the Upper Peninsula to learn about the men and women "and the issues that are important" to the 11th District. She said the party is trying to make sure voter registrations are up and to increase its membership in 1969, which she termed a "housekeeping year" as far as politics are concerned.

"We'll increase our membership and we'll do it on $5 and $15 memberships and we'll win," she enthused.

McNeely said appointment of a member of the State Highway Commissioner from the Upper Peninsula is favored by the party's central committee and that the issue is being discussed on every stop on the tour.

Highways are considered by many people as the most critical problem in the Upper Peninsula and the next member of the Highway Commission appointed will be a Democrat to balance the political representation on the commission.

"I'm sure that we'll arrive at some consensus on that question," he commented in response to a question about who the party would support.

Not Lack Candidates
As far as the gubernatorial election is concerned, McNeely said the party could have as many as eight or nine candidates, including State Attorney General Frank Kelley and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

"I don't think there will be any lack of people ready and willing to run against Gov. Milliken in 1970," he said.

McNeely said the large state delegation on tour was sort of a "team approach" to party organization designed to broaden the available avenues of communication between state and local officials.

"Parties consist of acquaintanceships and confidence," said Staebler, a former congressman and candidate for governor.

A large group of local party officials and members attended the program. Norbert Murphy of Escanaba is chairman of the Delta County Democratic Committee.

The visiting state team met with Menominee county officials at breakfast today, were scheduled for a luncheon meeting at Iron Mountain and then planned to be in Marquette for another dinner program tonight. The tour will end Tuesday with at least one visit scheduled in every county in the U. P.

'Air Pollution' Is League Topic For Local Study

The Escanaba League of Women Voters adopted air pollution as a local study item at its recent annual meeting.

The League will make a study of air pollution in Delta County—sources, methods of control, legislation, and enforcement. The topic was chosen because of the great concern expressed over the growing problems of environmental pollution, the League reported.

The membership voted to continue its study of the financing and development of Bay de Noc Community College.

The League also held its annual election at which Mrs. Robert Haack was elected first vice president; Mrs. Louis Gregory, second vice president; and Mrs. Vernon Wicklander, treasurer. Mrs. Ronald Baston, Mrs. Wesley Lehmann, and Mrs. Harold Simonson were elected directors.

Elected last year for two years and continuing in office are Mrs. William Taylor, president; Mrs. Luther Barrett, secretary; Mrs. Roland Berry, Mrs. Albert Halcli, and Mrs. Charles Harper, directors. The nominating committee will consist of Mrs. Frank Neumeier, Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, and Mrs. Leonard Erickson.

A budget was adopted by the membership to carry on its work in voters service, legislation, candidates' meetings, publications, and local operation. A finance drive to coincide with the League of Women Voters 50th anniversary will be held later in the year. The remainder of the needed funds will come from the League's used book sale in July, dues, and member contributions.

The League also voted to retain all the present continuing responsibilities which include:

- Support of improvements in services to children through measures to strengthen the family unit by family counseling services, by protective services under "Children's Charter," and by increased support of existing agencies.

- Support of measures which strengthen a sound city manager-council government.

- Support of adequate financing to meet the Escanaba Area Public School needs.

- Support of Home Rule for Delta County if the legislature amends the present bill to provide more flexibility in the structure of county government, and if the legislature provides more options in the political party requirements for elected county officials.

The League's annual report was distributed. Some of the highlights during the year included three candidates' meetings for the public, a petition drive for a judicial constitutional amendment, support of school millage proposals, and get-out-the-vote dog parade in the downtown area on Friday night before the November election.

A new publication "Your Elected Officials" compiled by the Escanaba League was distributed; and will be widely distributed in the community and the surrounding area.

Students Clean Highway Of Litter

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Soaking wet, cut and scratched and "tired but satisfied," 15 students at the State University College here Friday issued a challenge to college students to equal their feat of cleaning up public highways.

The group spent six hours in a steady drizzle collecting trash along a five-mile stretch of road near this northern New York city. In the process they filled three trucks provided by the county highway department.

Trio Dead In Burning Car

GRASS LAKE (AP) — Two young men and a woman believed to be from the Jackson area were found dead in a burning car about four miles south-east of Grass Lake Village in Jackson County early today.

Police did not immediately identify the trio. All three bodies were found in the front seat. Police gave no indication as to the fire's cause.

The car was found by an oil truck driver returning home from his job in Jackson.

Robert Sells, 26, told State Police he passed the car, which was just off a dirt road about 50 yards from his home, then saw that one of its tires was afire.

He said he got out of his car, shined his flashlight on the window, but was unable to see in because the windows had been blackened.

Sells then drove to his house to check on his wife and children, saw they were all right and returned to the burning car.

He said he walked around the auto — A 1961 Oldsmobile—saw there were no footprints in the mud around it, and figured there was someone inside.

He returned home and called State Police, who tried to put out the blaze with fire extinguishers, failed and summoned the Grass Lake Fire Department, which put it out.

Coho Market Will Exist Despite DDT Scare: Today

LANSING (AP) — There still will be a commercial market for Great Lakes salmon, despite the DDT scare, predicts Michigan's top fish expert.

"They can still be processed and smoked or sold in a can. We are sure they can be sold for human consumption below the level set by the federal government," said Wayne Tody, head of the Department of Natural Resources fish division.

The federal government has set five parts per 1 million of DDT as the highest level allowed in fish on the commercial market.

"There will be some depression of the value of the fish on the market," Tody told the Natural Resources Commission Thursday.

Market As Bait
"We are assured there is a market for the fish—not only for human consumption, but otherwise," he added.

The salmon can be used for fish bait, for caviar and even can be processed at a profit for use as a part of industrial oils, Tody said.

Tody said the Blackport Packing Co. of Grand Rapids, which has the contract to purchase excess salmon taken from streams after they escape anglers, will not be held to their present contract price.

The company currently is committed to pay 15.6 cents a pound for the salmon.

He indicated that the price would be negotiated so the company could continue to process the fish, but not suffer a loss.

Snags Kept
Tody said it would be difficult to buy excess fish locally — in the areas where they are caught.

"But the fishermen are irritated to see them shipped out commercially," he said.

Tody said as part of the solution he favored allowing anglers to keep salmon snagged accidentally.

This would allow fishermen who catch fish with conventional gear to keep the salmon if they catch them elsewhere than in the mouth.

Mrs. O. Wery Dies Friday

Mrs. Ortense Wery, 89, of Wilson died late Friday morning in the Pinecrest Medical Care Facility following a lengthy illness.

She was born Sept. 7, 1879 in Red River, Wis. and has lived in the Jam Dam and Wilson area since 1890. Mrs. Wery was a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church of Wilson.

She is survived by a son, Levi; a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence (Alice) Smith, seven grandchildren, 13 great grandchildren and a brother, Manuel Routheaux of Wilson.

Friends may call at the Boyle Funeral Home in Bark River from 4-9:30 p. m. on Sunday.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Wilson with the Elder E. E. Herr officiating. Burial will be in the Seventh-day Adventist Cemetery. The body will be brought to the church one hour before the services.

Deliberate snagging will not be allowed. Slightly larger hook sizes will be permitted to give the fishermen more chance to haul in the heavy fish.

Five Daily Limit

Tody said fishermen will be allowed to keep five fish a day—all salmon, or a combination of trout and salmon.

"If problem areas develop," he promised, "we will move in on them."

Tody was referring to last year, when fishermen ganged up to deliberately snag the salmon with huge hooks, particularly at Bear Creek and off the mouth of Thompson Creek.

Tody said good salmon fishing already was reported from Lakes Michigan and Huron. Patrol boats are out seeking them, to give anglers the latest fishing information.

"They have survived nicely and are growing well again in both lakes," he said.

Dr. John Kitchel of Grand Rapids, president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said he was confident the commercial fishing industry in the Great Lakes would pick up sooner than most experts expected.

Kitchel predicted that if the use of DDT and other long-lasting chemicals was shut off, the fish could make a comeback in numbers large enough to be fished commercially within 10 to 20 years.

No Violence

In a year when college campuses all over the United States — Purdue, Wisconsin, Cornell, City College of New York, San Francisco State, Columbia, to name a few — have erupted with student demonstrations and violence, it seemed like it would be only a matter of time before the University of Michigan got into the act.

It was at Michigan where teach-ins originated to protest the Vietnam war. It was at Michigan where Tom Hayden formed the radical Students for a Democratic Society (SRS). It was at Michigan where legalized marijuana was first advocated in an editorial in the student newspaper.

Yet, through it all, the Ann Arbor campus — once labeled the Berkeley (University of California) of the Midwest after its bohemian and later hippy elements — has remained remarkably sane.

There is a rent strike going on in Ann Arbor today. There also have been protests against county welfare policies generated by students, protests against the Vietnam war and the draft and any number of rallies on the "Diag", the center of the central campus. But compared to the firebombing, the street battles with police, building takeovers and even arms bearing on other campuses, the University of Michigan isn't in the same league.

It may be that students at Michigan "peaked" with protests several years ago before the trend toward violence got started and are now concerned with "higher" achievements such as nude plays, but that seems unlikely. It may be that Michigan's academic demands are too great to allow thought toward violence, but Dartmouth has academic demands, too, and that campus has been a hot spot.

More probably, the answer for Michigan's calm lies somewhere in the approach of its administration toward student problems and the overall philosophy of the university as a forum of higher academic purpose where the exchange of ideas is welcomed and dissent is encouraged.

There hasn't been a serious race problem on campus.

The students just don't have a good reason to protest.

Dr. Robben W. Fleming, Michigan's 9th president, is a firm believer in the right of students to dissent. He also believes that students are reasonable and if treated reasonably by the university they will behave reasonably.

The University of Michigan is moving more and more toward giving students voice in their own affairs and even those of the university.

Ten years ago Michigan limited activities of coeds until they were 21 years old or seniors. Driving privileges on campus were restricted. Students in dormitories were required to wear ties to dinner or they couldn't eat.

Today, rigid regulation of outside-the-classroom behavior of students for all practical purposes has been eliminated. Coeds no longer are required to sign out of dormitories and return by certain hours. They are not even required to live in dormitories. Visitation of students, including men in women's housing units, is not limited. This fall, freshmen for the first time will no longer be required to live in university-owned, dorms for the first year.

Driving restrictions have been dropped. Anyone can use a car. Coeds, if they desire, can readily obtain prescriptions for birth control pills at the University Health Service with few questions asked. Dress codes fail to exist.

The lack of restriction, of course, has encouraged the hippy element on campus and around its periphery. A walk through the campus will confirm that.

But with it there also appears to exist on campus a feeling of tolerance as a form of social experiment in the humanistic laboratory. The University of Michigan always has had a reputation for liberalism and freedom of expression. After all, isn't that what a university is all about?

Perhaps the lack of violence is a welcomed side benefit.

A 4,000 pound anchor has "disappeared" in the St. Mary's River. U. S. Army Corps of Engineers crews allowed vessels drawing more than 24½ feet to proceed through the river after calling off the search for the anchor, which was lost from the freighter Howard Hindman of the Hindman Transportation Co. in the Neebish channel. Engineers had feared that a vessel drawing more than 24½ feet would be seriously damaged if it hit the anchor, but crews who swept through the area indicated the anchor must have dropped into a deep hole in the rock bottom of the channel.

Mayor Philip Rahoi of Iron Mountain revealed, after he and Police Chief A. J. Schupp studied Escanaba's system, that he plans to present a proposal for hiring parking meter maids to the city council. He said the system could save the city $3,000 annually and, in addition, would produce more income.

SDS Branches Into Thievery

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Students for a Democratic Society contain many conflicting elements. There are the admitted small-c communists (Michael Klonsky, the national secretary, and others in the "Chicago bureaucracy"), the Maoist-Castroites (the Progressive Labor Party adherents), the Trotskyites, the anarchists and the rebels who are still shopping for an ideology. But, sad to say about an organization that professes to have some measure of idealism, however perverted, the SDS also attracts a number of petty thieves.

Family Lawyer

RIDDLE OF TRUNK

Writing her own will, an elderly widow made the following bequest to a neighbor:

"My clothing and the trunk in which it is stored."

But after the widow's death, her trunk was found to contain not only clothing but some valuable jewels as well. Should the jewels go to the neighbor, along with the trunk? After a legal battle, the court finally decided they should not — awarding them instead to the widow's surviving relatives.

The case illustrates how much uncertainty can be wrapped up in words that, at first glance, seem perfectly clear. Literally hundreds of homemade wills have led to lawsuits because of phrases like "the papers in my bottom desk drawer," "the contents of the large pink envelope," or "all the furniture in the basement."

Suppose the language of the will is plain enough in identifying both the container and the contents. Nevertheless, a matter of timing may still raise formidable problems.

Does "everything in my wall safe" mean what was in the safe when the person wrote the will—or what was in the safe when he died, perhaps years later? It would not be unusual for him to put in additional items during the intervening period.

Most courts have decided, in such circumstances, to include everything actually within the container when the person died. As one judge put it: "A will speaks from the day of death."

But that doesn't apply when there are clues in the language used, that the person meant it the other way around. For example:

A man who bequeathed the jewelry "now in my safe deposit box" was held to have given only what was there on the day he wrote the will, rather than what was there when he died. The word "now," said the court, showed he had that intention in mind. And, the court explained:

"The intention of the (deceased) is always the guiding star in the construction of wills."

It could have been honest delusion when a group of SDSers invaded the Maury Hall offices of George Washington University's Sino-Soviet Institute in Washington, D. C., and stole some confidential interviews with Japanese and Taiwanese statesmen from the files of Professor Franz Michael. But the search for "compromising" information might have been carried out at the Sino-Soviet Institute without kicking students' theses around the hallways, jeopardizing the full year's work of boys whose political philosophies are quite unknown to the SDS. For all the Sino-Soviet Institute invaders may have known, the students whose work was treated so cavalierly could be SDS sympathizers.

Beyond the SDS contempt for academic work, the raid on George Washington University's Sino-Soviet Institute included behavior that is about as idealistic as simple shoplifting.

One professor lost a transistor radio and an electric shaver. Another lost a tennis racket. The invaders took with them two tape recorders, a pen, and a manicure compact set in a gold-plated case.

Stalin, of course, thought nothing of conducting bank robberies when he was an underdog revolutionist, but the stolen funds went to swell the treasury of the Bolshevik party. This was in accordance with Lenin's definition of class morality. But what have electric shavers and manicure compacts to contribute to the SDS cause? Particularly when the boys in the "movement" don't shave anyway, and the girls are about as unchic as they come.

After the robberies at the Sino-Soviet Institute, the SDS had the unmitigated gall or chutzpah to insist that the Maury Hall invaders be tried by a judicial body exclusively composed of students. The George Washington Student Assembly voted 14-10 in favor of a student court. But the victims of petty thieves have their own constitutional rights to justice in accordance with the law of the land. When a person steals a transistor radio, a tennis racket or a manicure compact set, he is guilty of something that transcends the question of academic discipline. He is a crook, and should be dealt with like any other crook.

The faculty of the George Washington University's Institute for Sino-Soviet Studies, contemplating the wreckage of their building, complained ruefully of "McCarthyism in reverse." I rise to the defense of Joe McCarthy. He never stole an electric shaver, a transistor radio, a tennis racket or a manicure compact. Joe was careless of his language and arithmetic at times, but he was not a petty crook.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

Opening lead—king of spades. In general, the purpose of the hold-up play by declarer is to sever communication between the adverse hands. Thus, if you study the spade holding in this hand, it becomes obvious that if South refuses to win the K-Q when they are led, and then takes the jack, he succeeds in preventing West from ever scoring the eight.

However, the problem of when or how long to hold up cannot be solved by applying a flat rule. Declarer must also apply good judgment in deciding when to invoke the hold-up play. Used incorrectly, the hold-up may prove to be a handicap instead of an advantage.

Take this case, where West leads the king of spades. South should duck because West may well have the K-Q-J-x-x and it is essential to exhaust East of spades to protect against this possibility.

But south should take the ace when West continues with the queen. There is no longer a valid reason for holding up the ace, for if West has four spades the contract can be nailed down by taking the queen and leading a diamond while if West has five spades the hold-up is absolutely pointless. This is because, if West has five spades and the ace of diamonds, the contract simply cannot be made.

The trouble with ducking the queen of spades is that West may now take it into his head to abandon the suit after winning the K-Q. He might decide to shift to clubs by leading the jack and, once he did this, the jig would be up.

The point is that the hold-up play should be employed for only a valid purpose, and it should not be used merely because the opportunity exists. It should be promptly abandoned whenever there is a serious danger of attack elsewhere.

Ann Landers

Girl's Responsibility To Call The Signals

Dear Ann Landers: My best friend is five months pregnant. She is a junior in high school. Ellie is really a good kid. What happened to her was not entirely her fault. Her boyfriend lied and said he was sterile.

Yesterday Ellie was called into the principal's office and asked if she was pregnant. It wouldn't have made any sense to deny it because she shows, even in loose dresses. The principal told Ellie she would have to leave school in two weeks. The boy, however, doesn't have to leave. He gets to stay on as if he had nothing to do with it. Is this fair?—Protesting Injustice

Dear Pro: Who said life was fair? At the risk of sounding like a broken record, I'll say it again—The girl is the big loser in the game called unmarried love. Kids who want to sample the physical pleasures of marriage would do well to consider all the possibilities. Since the female gets pregnant and her body undergoes changes, it is her responsibility to call the signals—and to hold that line.

Dear Ann Landers: A woman I work with has been married 30 years. No matter what the conversation is about, she manages to bring in Gordy. Gordy is her husband. This happens at least ten times a day and we are sick of it.

I once had an aunt who had the same problem. Her husband's name was Boardman. She called him Bord. The family joke was that she Bord us all to death.

What's the matter with these people? Is there a way to get them to cut it out — Nearly Batty

Dear Bat: Individuals who do this feel inadequate. (Incidentally, it's almost exclusively a female weakness.) These gals need emotional support. Bringing a Gordy or a Bord into the conversation makes them feel less alone. We all know such women — and I agree they are tiresome. But understanding why they are like this should reduce the irritation.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter-in-law and I get along very well. We have no problems and I want to keep it that way. The only thing about her that bothers me is that she must hate to wash and iron shirts.

My son who was always meticulous about his appearance now looks shabby because his shirts are a mess. I get sick whenever I see him.

You are good with words, Ann. Can you tell me what to say to my son's wife so she will not be offended and still get the message?—Paris, Quebec, Canada

Dear Paris: When a man marries, his wife becomes responsible for his laundry. No matter how you phrase it, any comment or suggestion from you would be considered interference. So keep quiet, Mother.

Libraries Face Financial Fix

NEW YORK (AP) — Scholars and students are among the 8,000 who each day visit the terraced Fifth Avenue research library, the granddaddy of this city's 192 free public libraries.

Now it and the others are in serious financial trouble.

The money-squeeze may force a drastic curtailment in operations, closure of 36 branches and termination of 500 jobs if budget-makers in the city, state and Washington get their way.

And elsewhere in the nation, libraries are facing similar problems as wage scales increase in the face of mounting reluctance by local and state governments to approve fatter budgets.

Further complicating the picture is a plan by the Nixon administration to trim $88 million in aid to libraries and library programs.

At St. Paul, Minn., the main library and nine branches close Saturdays and stay open now only two nights a week, to affect economies.

In Detroit, higher wages for librarians cut into operating costs and the main library now closes some mornings and Sunday nights during the summer months. It formerly was open every day and most evenings.

Chrysler's Plans

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Chrysler Corp. Friday announced plans to more than double investment in its Argentinean subsidiary, Chrysler Feve Argentina.

The firm said the move was intended to increase Chrysler's penetration of Latin American markets.

Victim Of Prank Call, Fights Back With Bill

LANSING (AP) — More than a year ago the wife and family of Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate, were interrupted at dinner by an anonymous telephone caller who stated Anderson had been killed in an auto crash near Brighton.

A few minutes later Anderson walked into his home to find his wife distraught at the prospect of breaking the news to their children.

About a year later, Anderson recalls, the macabre prank occurred again.

Some 100 obscene or harassing other calls have been made to his home, he says, once while a policeman was listening.

Determined to do something about it, Anderson Friday received preliminary House approval for a bill that seeks to curb those who prey by phone on the minds and emotions of countless victims.

He proposes a six-month jail term or $500 fine for any person convicted under the act even if the call crosses a state line.

False Reports

Included under the bill would be calls with intent to "terrorize, frighten, intimidate, threaten, harass, molest or annoy any other persons."

False reports of illness, injury, death, crime or accident would be included, as would making two random calls to another telephone or making obscene suggestions.

Briton Crossing States On Foot

PIE TOWN, N.M. (AP) — Bruce Tulloh squinted down the barren, sunbaked New Mexico highway and scratched a two-day beard.

"I've a bit of foot trouble," he said, "so I'll walk the first part of the day."

"But I reckon to get 40 miles in today and 45 tomorrow."

The 33-year-old British biology teacher is walking and running from Los Angeles to New York. He hopes to eclipse the record of 67 days for the trip set in 1964.

"The altitude has been a bit of a bad go, but you have to keep going," said the Englishman, a day and a half behind schedule.

Pie Town sits astride the Continental Divide at an altitude of 8,112 feet.

Tulloh has slogged through rain and snow from an unexpected spring storm for three days, favoring pulled tendons in his right foot. But clearing skies raised his spirits.

"The hardest part was after the injury, when every step hurt," he said. "But when we get away from this high altitude and the injury gets better, then I'll move along."

Tulloh fell behind schedule because of the weather and a day out to rest his foot.

To reach New York City by June 26, the 116-pound distance runner will have to cover more than 40 miles a day—running, walking, running and walking with brief stops for tea and lunch.

On leave from his school at Wargrave, England, Tulloh is accompanied by his wife, 5-year-old son, a young cousin and a representative of the U.S. beverage manufacturer sponsoring the jaunt. They travel in two cars and spend nights in a small camp trailer.

Pueblo Officer's Future In Doubt

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Lt. Edward Murphy Jr., executive officer of the USS Pueblo, says he is concerned about his future in the Navy and "I'm wondering if I'm being politely asked to resign."

Murphy was second in command of the Pueblo when it was seized by North Korea in January 1968.

Murphy said Friday in an interview with radio station WKZO in Kalamazoo that if officials are hinting that he might best resign, "I wish they would tell me instead of going around in the manner in which they are doing."

The nine-year Navy veteran said, "I had been selected for postgraduate school in Monterey (Calif.) but I was told after the investigation that schools were not going to be considered."

A Naval court of inquiry this week recommended that Murphy be given a letter of admonition in connection with the ship's seizure. The recommendation was overruled by Secretary of the Navy John Chafee.

Murphy, who was visiting a sister in Portage near Kalamazoo, said the Pueblo's commander, Lloyd Bucher, "who had not been assigned to postgraduate school (prior to the seizure) was assigned to postgraduate school."

Carl Anderson Files Petitions For Area Board

Carl R. Anderson, 61, of 1502 Willow Creek Rd., filed nominating petitions Friday for election to a two-year term on the Escanaba Area Board of Education.

Anderson will oppose Ronald B. Lankford, 2519 S. 22nd St., who was named to the board last fall after the resignation of Richard Hanson of Wells. The remaining two years of Hanson's unexpired term will be decided at the election, June 9.

Three other candidates — incumbents Kenneth West, 626 S. 17th St., and Charles Tooman 215 Ogden Ave., and Gary Barton of Soo Hill — have filed nominating petitions for the two four-year terms to be decided at the election, June 9.

Deadline for filing nominating petitions was today.

Anderson, a native of Escanaba, attended Escanaba public schools and served over five years in the U. S. Army from 1943 to 1948. He was discharged as a technical sergeant.

He joined Harnischfeger Corp. in Escanaba 16 years ago and is presently employed as a shipping clerk.

A member of the Escanaba Housing Commission, Anderson is a past president of the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council and is presently chairman of the Community Action Program of United Auto Workers Local 632, of which he is a member.

He also served on a curriculum study committee for the Escanaba public schools under former Supt. Walter Bright, and served on the millage committee for Bay de Noc Community College. He is currently a member of the college's study committee on career and vocational education program and a member of UPACAP Human Resources subcommittee on vocational education.

He is chairman of the education committee of UAW Local 632 and also is a member of the committee for the P&H shop paper "The Eye Opener."

Anderson is married and he and his wife, Anna, have three children, Dieter and Peter Hillheim and C. Raymond Anderson, who is in military service at Fort Dix, N. J.

Discuss Future
He and a 20-man team will talk to government, business and political leaders, and possibly student groups, in the quest for a new policy the Nixon administration can apply in its future relations with Latin America.

There's sharp interest here, much of it centering on Mexico's endemic trade deficits with the United States.

The United States' fifth best customer in the world, Mexico purchased $1.23 billion of American goods last year while selling only $707 million.

Actually, over-all business between the two countries in 1968 nearly came out even. Mexico made $1.14 billion on tourism and border business while spending $627 million on the same categories. The net $500 million in profit nearly balanced out the $528-million trade deficit. Tourism and border trade figures seldom are cited in Mexican statistics relating to U.S. trade.

Mexican anxiety with U.S. dealings has been aroused largely by signs of protectionist policies in Washington to curb unfavorable commercial balances draining U.S. gold reserves.

In Central America, the Rockefeller mission will visit six countries with a total population smaller than the governor's own New York State.

More than half the area's 13 million people are illiterate. The life expectancy in part of the six republics is under 45 years of age.

Some Central Americans do their washing in modern automatic laundries but most do it in riverbeds or in the lakes at

Social Security At Record High

A record $439,000 in monthly social security benefits was being paid to residents of Delta County at the end of December 1968, an increase of 2 per cent above the amount payable at the end of February 1968, according to Arnold T. Williams, district manager for social security.

"Throughout the country, monthly benefits payable at the end of 1968 amounted to nearly $2.1 billion, some $350 million higher than at the end of 1967," Williams said.

"Approximately three-quarters of the increased monthly amount resulted from higher benefit rates authorized by the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Act. The remainder of the increase was simply due to a greater number of beneficiaries."

By the end of May 1969, social security will be paying monthly benefits to more than 25 million people—1 out of every 8 Americans. Although retired workers comprise the largest group of beneficiaries, almost one-fourth of all people receiving benefits are under 60.

There are currently more than 3.8 million children and 5 million young widowed mothers receiving payments. Yet the public continues to think of social security as a program for old people. In Delta County, 1,232 people under 60 are receiving benefits. That figure breaks down into 670 under 18, 120 who are 18-21, and 442 who are 22-59.

Many students would have been unable to continue their education were it not for the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act which extended survivors and dependents insurance benefits to students until their 22nd birthdays.

In terms of Medicare, almost all people in the country 65 or over are eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Likewise, 95 per cent of all older persons in the country have elected coverage under the voluntary supplementary medical insurance plan which pays physicians' fees.

Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Pontiac, sponsor of the bill said courts "had to take this thing cold" in the face of pressure from the American Motorcycle Association at a time when only three states required helmets. Since then, 40 states have added the requirement, he said.

Lawyer legislators opposed the bill as sure to be held unconstitutional and thus not worth adopting. Rep. Thomas Brown, R-Lansing, offered an amendment to require cyclists to wear an "illuminous strip six inches above the shoulders. That might encourage helmets he said, and wouldn't hamper personal freedom.

But most of the lower chamber agreed with Rep. James Heinze, R-Battle Creek, that the bill, if enacted, would "give the courts an opportunity to reverse themselves" and promote safety.

Anderson, when asked if a cycle rider couldn't still legally mock the rule by wearing a helmet upside down, admitted he hadn't considered that loophole.

"But it won't stay there unless you've got a flat head," he laughed.

Two accidents claimed five lives as the count of Michigan's traffic fatalities climbed to six in the early hours of the weekend.

The Associated Press count of weekend traffic deaths began at 6 p. m. Friday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Three teenagers died in a head-on collision in Emmett County's Cross Village Township late Friday in the most deadly collision.

The accident occurred when a Volkswagen driven by David Lee Womack, 19, collided with another car.

Womack, from Harbor Springs, and his two passengers, Wanda Peterson, 17, of Good Hart, and Cathy Miller, 18, of Harbor Springs, died. The driver of the other car was not killed.

Two more teenagers died in another accident in Alpena County's Alpena Township.

Lynn Burtley Bays, 17, and Lawrence Aube, 16, both of Ossineke, were killed when the Bays car crossed the center line of U.S. 23 about half a mile from Timm Drive and struck the left side of another car.

The other victim: Louis Lovell, 31, of Manton, who died in a single-car accident on U.S. 131 in northeastern Wexford County early today when a car in which he was riding apparently went out of control and rolled over four times pinning him underneath.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berhold of Maywood, Ill. and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Deacon have returned to their home after attending the wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Deacon. They also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ruheau.

Bill Requires Cyclists To Wear Crash Helmets

LANSING (AP) — Believing it is right and the courts are wrong, the Michigan House has passed a bill that would require motorcyclists to wear crash helmets.

The bill further specifies the crash helmets must be worn on the rider's head, not on his bike's handle bars or back seat.

A similar law, enacted in 1967, was ruled unconstitutional in the state on grounds it violates personal freedom — even if to live dangerously.

Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Pontiac, sponsor of the bill said courts "had to take this thing cold" in the face of pressure from the American Motorcycle Association at a time when only three states required helmets. Since then, 40 states have added the requirement, he said.

Gov. Rockefeller Begins Latin American Mission
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller gets an intimate look next week at Latin America's two faces on the first leg of his policy-searching mission for President Nixon.

Mexico, Latin America's brighter side, spent $2 billion abroad last year—mostly on capital goods—to fuel a swiftly expanding economy that still isn't big enough for its 50 million people.

Underdeveloped Central America makes up the shabbier face. The six minuscule nations are trying, with a measure of success, to make the long leap from the burro era to the jet age.

The New York governor begins an eight-day, seven-nation swing here Sunday. He'll spend 48 hours in the Mexican capital, then will fly Tuesday to Central America.

Discuss Future
He and a 20-man team will talk to government, business and political leaders, and possibly student groups, in the quest for a new policy the Nixon administration can apply in its future relations with Latin America.

There's sharp interest here, much of it centering on Mexico's endemic trade deficits with the United States.

The United States' fifth best customer in the world, Mexico purchased $1.23 billion of American goods last year while selling only $707 million.

Actually, over-all business between the two countries in 1968 nearly came out even. Mexico made $1.14 billion on tourism and border business while spending $627 million on the same categories. The net $500 million in profit nearly balanced out the $528-million trade deficit. Tourism and border trade figures seldom are cited in Mexican statistics relating to U.S. trade.

Mexican anxiety with U.S. dealings has been aroused largely by signs of protectionist policies in Washington to curb unfavorable commercial balances draining U.S. gold reserves.

In Central America, the Rockefeller mission will visit six countries with a total population smaller than the governor's own New York State.

More than half the area's 13 million people are illiterate. The life expectancy in part of the six republics is under 45 years of age.

Hearing On Aging Scheduled May 16 At Marquette

Representatives of the Michigan Commission on Aging will be in Marquette Friday, May 16, to gather testimony from older people on problems they face and suggestions for legislative action.

The legislative hearing will be held from 9:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. in the Marquette Senior Citizens Center.

The meeting is open to the public. Special invitations have been sent to senior citizen organizations and to those working directly with the elderly.

The Marquette hearing is the last in a seven-city series, and the only hearing scheduled for the Upper Peninsula.

Topics to be discussed may include health care, increased senior citizen homestead tax exemptions, more state funds for senior citizen recreation and multi-service centers, or any other subject which might fall within the province of the Legislature.

Chairman of the Marquette meeting will be Mrs. A. R. Jacobs, Traverse City, member of the Commission on Aging and the Traverse City Mayor's Committee on Aging.

Rock Assembly Program
Fred Lowery, a whistling artist, will present a program at the Rock school Wednesday, May 14 at 9 a. m. during the assembly program. The public is invited.

Fred Lowery, who has been blind since the age of two, illustrates what determination to succeed can do for a person.

He was born in Palestine, Texas, and for as long as he can remember, was determined to whistle the music he couldn't play on the violin.

Some of his recordings are, "Indian Love Call," which sold over two million copies, and "The High and the Mighty."

More than half the area's 13 million people are illiterate. The life expectancy in part of the six republics is under 45 years of age.

Some Central Americans do their washing in modern automatic laundries but most do it in riverbeds or in the lakes at the bottom of extinct volcanoes. Central Americans are slowly inching out of their backwardness, however. The main vehicle for this is the Central American common market through which the countries are moving toward economic integration. The obstacles have been more political than economic thus far.

Progress
U.S. aid has been instrumental in getting the common market off the ground and in shoring up the more anemic economies. Between 1961 and 1967, the United States poured into the area, in direct and indirect loans, a total of $482 million.

As in Mexico and the rest of the hemisphere, Central American businessmen are concerned with what they regard as "negative aspects" of U.S. investment.

They would like to see U.S. investors "supplement but not dominate" local capital. Through mixed capital venture, Latin Americans hope to correct growing commercial payments imbalances by reducing remittances abroad of profits.

This is expected to be one of the key topics the Rockefeller mission hears. U.S. investments in Latin America are estimated to total $12 billion—and are increasing.

Not Blaming Anyone: Wilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain lashed out today at reports that he had blamed the Los Angeles Lakers' National Basketball Association championship loss to the Boston Celtics on his coach, Butch van Breda Kolff.

"There's one thing I want to get straight," Chamberlain told The Associated Press. "I'm not pointing the finger at Butch or anyone else for this loss."

Chamberlain had been quoted criticizing Van Breda Kolff following the Lakers' two-point, seventh game loss to the Celtics in Los Angeles last Monday. One of his reported complaints was the fact that he spent the final minutes of the game on the Lakers' bench after wrenching his right knee.

"I had reservations about some things that happened at the end," said the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain. "I was in great pain when I hurt my knee. But after applying ice for a couple of minutes, I felt that I could come back."

"I thought I could help in the pivot, maybe work on (Bill) Russell, who was playing with five fouls, maybe block a shot or two."

"I asked to come back in. All of us want to play. Butch kept me out. He had his reasons and I'm not questioning them. That's why he's the coach."

Pro Football Owners Fail On Realignment

NEW YORK (AP) — Pro football's tireless club owners struggled through the night with the problem of realignment, continuing past the 19th hour mark early today in an attempt to find three National Football League teams to move into the American Football League.

With dawn approaching, the owners still were closeted in pro football's plush Park Avenue offices trying to meet both the requirements of realignment and the Saturday afternoon deadline set by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Rozelle said pointedly before the beginning of the Friday session: "One way or another we'll have a decision by Saturday afternoon."

The owners went into session at 10 a.m., EDT, Friday and were locked in virtually continuous meetings throughout the day in an attempt to break the impasse that now has lasted through 13 days of talk.

Rozelle had also said he might be forced to pick the three teams himself, but there was no indication that he had either asked or been given the power necessary to resolve the problem in that manner.

The problem revolved around the selection of the three teams that have to be moved from the 16-team NFL into what is now the 10-team AFL to force the two 13-team conferences that will make up the structure of pro football beginning in 1970.

The franchises most prominently mentioned as the leading candidates to shift are Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, Atlanta, Minnesota and St. Louis.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune in a copyrighted story by sports editor Bob Roessler, said that the owner of the Saints, John W. Meem Jr., had been offered $3 million to move his club into the AFL, but that he had turned it down. The story did not say who had offered the money.

There was virtually no word whatsoever from the pro football offices during the entire day and night on what progress, if any, had been made or whether the stalemate could be broken.

But the fact the owners were staying at the conference table was interpreted as a sign that there had been movement.

During the first half of the season, he batted .623, getting 109 hits in 175 bats. In the second half he collected 106 hits in 172 at bats for a .616. Wally didn't let up in tournament play either, as he got 32 hits in 49 times at bat for a sensational .653 average.

Morin is considered by many to be the best hitter in dartsball ever to come from the Garden area.

Wally Morin Hits For Big Average

GARDEN—Wally Morin, who plays dartsball in the Gladstone League for Mush's Bar, is making quite a name for himself with his remarkable hitting in league play.

During the first half of the season, he batted .623, getting 109 hits in 175 bats. In the second half he collected 106 hits in 172 at bats for a .616. Wally didn't let up in tournament play either, as he got 32 hits in 49 times at bat for a sensational .653 average.

Tigers Didn't Have 'Chance' Against Minnesota's Dean

DETROIT (AP)—With six .300 hitters in the Minnesota lineup it would seem like the Detroit Tigers wouldn't have had a chance Friday night.

They didn't—and they also didn't have a Chance by the name of Dean.

Chance and two relievers combined to pitch a four-hitter as the Twins raked four Tiger pitchers for 12 hits to beat Detroit 6-2. It was Minnesota's 10th victory in the last 11 games, while Detroit lost its seventh game in the last 11.

Why haven't the Tigers been hitting?

"Tonight it was Dean Chance," said Detroit catcher Bill Freehan bluntly, sidestepping the question of other recent meager team hitting performances.

Northrup Connects
"If he pitches like that all the time he goes out there he'll win 99 per cent of his games," said Twins Manager Billy Martin. "Tonight was the freest I've seen him throw all year."

It was Chance's first start since he was sidelined two weeks ago with arm trouble. He blanked the Tigers on two hits until the seventh inning, when Jim Northrup tagged a two-run homer after Norm Cash walked. Bob Miller protected Chance's third victory without a loss with ninth help from Ron Perranoski.

Earl Wilson lasted only 3 1-3 innings and took the loss.

"As long as we win that's all I care," Chance said.

"I just started to rush myself to get into shape," said the tall right-hander about his sore arm.

"It's a doggone shame. I should have eight or nine wins by now. It's just not ready yet."

Twins Get Runs
But for the Tigers it was plenty ready. Chance struck out seven in his 6 2-3 innings and retired 18 of the first 21 men he faced. Last year he was the winningest pitcher against Detroit with a 4-1 record.

He attributed his mastery over Detroit to "runs I guess—and lady luck. That's the name of the game. . . . I think they (Twins) have gotten 30 runs for me in four ball games."

Excluding the pitcher, the eight players who started for the Twins Friday were hitting a cumulative average of .316 on 197 hits in 624 at bats. Only two players were under .300 — left-fielder Graig Nettles was at .286 and first baseman Rich Reese at .269.

Here were the other averages going into the game: shortstop Loe Cardenas, .305; second baseman Rod Carew, .395; third baseman Harmon Killebrew, .313; rightfielder Tony Oliva, .320; catcher John Roseboro, .304; and centerfielder Ted Uhlender, .304.

"We had a lot of extra hitting in spring training," said Martin. "We kept our minor league pitchers right to the end to pitch batting practice."

Killebrew capped Minnesota's rally with a two-run homer in the ninth off reliever Fred Scherman. It was his eighth of the year and 40th of his career.

More than 16,000 fans turned out in the unseasonably cold night.

Denny McLain (4-3) was scheduled to start for the Tigers tonight in a rare Saturday night game. Dave Boswell (3-3) was the probable starter for the Twins, who are now 18-8 atop the West Division of the American League. Detroit is six games behind Baltimore in the East Division with a 12-15 record.

So Does Andy Kosco

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers' youth movement is in full swing—and so is Andy Kosco.

Not that Kosco can be considered old at 27, but he doesn't quite have the fuzzy cheeks of such youngsters as Bill Sudakis, 23; Ted Sizemore, 24; Billy Grabarkewitz, 23; Willie Crawford, 22, and Bill Russell, 20.

Still, Kosco managed to have the last laugh—and the first one, too—as the Dodgers bombed the Pittsburgh Pirates 13-3 Friday night.

Cubs Beaten
After taking a good-natured needling when a cartoon in a local paper depicted him as one of the Dodgers' kids, the slugging outfielder went out and hammered his fifth and sixth homers, good for five runs batted in.

In the only National League daytime action, San Francisco walloped the Chicago Cubs 11-1. In other night contests, St. Louis outlasted San Diego 7-6 and Cincinnati whipped Montreal 8-5 with rain halting the game after 6 1/2 innings. Atlanta at Philadelphia and Houston at the New York Mets were washed out.

Kosco, who came to the Dodgers from the Yankees in a wintertime trade, settled for a mere single his first time at bat, but it was the opening shot in a nine-run second inning. A wild pitch, a walk and Sudakis' double accounted for one run and Ron Fairly doubled for two more.

An error and a walk filled the bases and Sizemore cleared them with a triple. The seventh run scored on a wild pitch, followed by a walk and Kosco's first homer. Kosco then cracked a three-run round-tripper as the Dodgers tallied four times in the sixth.

"They kidded me about the cartoon," Kosco said grinning, "but I don't mind." He said Ken Boyer put a sign above his locker which said, "Who's kidding who?"

Kosco said he was happy to get the two homers "because it was the first time I ever did it."

"Shock Troops"
The crippled Giants, with Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Juan Marichal, Jim Ray Hart and Bobby Bonds all sidelined, resorted to what Manager Clyde King calls his "shock troops" to shock the Cubs.

Bob Burda socked a three-run homer, his first in the majors, and Ken Henderson drilled a bases-loaded single.

"The shock troops did a good job again," said King. "They did a good job the last time out against St. Louis when they got 12 hits. That's 28 hits in two games, which isn't bad for a bunch of fill-ins."

Bobby Tolan drove in four tallies with a two-run triple and two-run homer, his sixth, as the Reds drubbed the Expos. His triple broke a 2-2 tie in the second inning.

Manager Earl Weaver. "Fiore played for me two years in Rochester, and he never went with the outside pitch."

The 24-year-old first baseman hit 19 homers for the Orioles' Rochester farm club last season, but with Powell entrenched at first he became expendable in the draft.

He had a .250 batting average and one RBI—having hit the Royals' first homer on April 13—before delivering in the pinch against his ex-mates.

Lou Piniella, another of the six former Orioles on the Kansas City roster, collected three hits as the Royals came from behind for the 13th time in 15 winning games.

Snaps Tie
Mike Andrews broke a 2-2 tie with a bases-loaded ninth inning triple at Anaheim and Carl Yastrzemski followed with a two-run homer, powering the Red Sox to their sixth straight triumph.

Tony Conigliaro hit a two-run homer for Boston before the Angels tied it in the fourth on Rick Reichardt's bases-empty blast.

Marshall, 2-3, limited the Senators to a 370-foot single by Frank Howard in the third inning and a single by Mike Epstein in the ninth as the young Phils snapped a three-game losing string. Run-scoring singles by Rich Rollins, in the first inning, and Steve Whitaker, in the fourth, beat right-hander Joe Coleman.

Meeting
The Peninsula Stock Car Association will hold a special meeting Sunday at 1 p.m. at the VFW Hall to vote on a new contract proposal.

tonight in a rare Saturday night game. Dave Boswell (3-3) was the probable starter for the Twins, who are now 18-8 atop the West Division of the American League. Detroit is six games behind Baltimore in the East Division with a 12-15 record.

Need People Involved In Politics: McNeely

"The only way to get in the ball game politically and stay in, financially, is through membership," the Democratic State Chairman told a gathering of Schoolcraft County Democrats Thursday.

Membership means new people and new people mean a new financial base, James McNeely said. He compared the $300,000 raised by the Democrats, their highest budget, to the $1,600,000 the state Republicans raised in 1969.

The newly-elected state chairman was in Manistique on his first stop of a six-day visit to the Upper Peninsula and met with about 30 party workers.

We must involve people in politics, he said, and the problem is the same in Schoolcraft County as it is in Wayne County: if the county votes solidly Democrat there is the tendency to sustain activities.

McNeely suggested a series of in-depth political meetings, where problems could be discussed, as one way of bolstering membership. People could be advised of the "whys and wherefores" of political decisions and become familiar with local, state and national problems. Resource people are available from the state central committee, he added.

McNeely discussed reform within the party and told the group that a Commission is working in this area.

Characterizing certain practices as the "tyranny of the majority within the party that does not allow the minority to express itself," McNeely said he is hopeful some legitimate complaints will be recognized. The election of precinct delegates and state and national convention delegates are areas in which some changes could be made, he noted.

The Republican party seems to have no interest in looking at the obvious defects of our political system, the chairman charged, since they have not yet indicated any desire to cooperate in political reform.

"They are fat, contented and happy with the process," he said, "and seem totally unaware of any need for a change."

He referred to the "spirited election of a state Democratic chairman" with several candidates and the election of his Republican counterpart "by acclamation."

Dissatisfaction with the candidates was blamed for the loss of a congressional and legislative seat in the Upper Peninsula. In an "anatomy of the last election" session, several local Democrats opted that they felt the Democratic candidates conducted personal attacks on their opponents which disenchanted many voters. Yet, they pointed out, the Upper Peninsula gave its majority vote to Hubert H. Humphrey.

Admitting that he could not endorse the candidacy of Eugene McCarthy for what he termed McCarthy's concept of the "decentralization of the presidency with a series of departmentalized functionaries under the presidency which would have been unworkable and impracticable," McNeely said that while "we are not of one mind we are of one spirit" and there should be room for differences in the party.

McNeely concluded by urging the county committee to be concerned with attracting the "lowest percentage" individuals — those under 35 years of age.

Inland To Hire Bristol People

John W. Moffat, vice president and general manager of the Inland Lime and Stone Co., confirmed a report that employees of the soon-to-close Bristol Mine in Crystal Falls may be hired to work at Gulliver's Port Inland Plant.

Moffat explained that all Inland raw material plants have a "preferential hiring provision" clause in their employment contracts giving laid-off personnel first priority in being hired by another division before any new employees are hired.

Any Bristol Mine employee would be accorded this privilege.

The Bristol Mine, an underground mining operation in Crystal Falls, is gradually phasing out its operations and expects to cease production sometime in July. About 100 persons will be affected by its closing, Moffat estimated.

The Inland is currently accepting applications and expects to hire some new employees this season.

Stage Frisbee Toss Saturday

A "Frisbee Toss" will be staged on Saturday, May 24 with contests open to all frisbee fans—the young-at-heart—be they adults or children.

A frisbee? It's a plastic flying saucer that may be shot, spun, bounced, tossed and caught, zoomed, skimmed, scattered, orbited, alofted, etc., or used in any other manner to amuse a mind of any dimension.

The "toss" is being sponsored by the sixth grade class of St. Francis School under the direction of Father Daniel Zaloga. The contests will be held in the school parking lot during the hours of 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Some of the contests will include distance relays, pavement bouncing, target shooting, catching, trick shooting, and bouncing a frisbee out of a tub of water.

May 24 is Youth Day in Michigan Week and the "toss" will tie in with youth activities planned for that day, according to Michigan Week chairman Ralph Gilliam.

Any frisbee is welcome to enter the contests. Frisbees may also be rented by anyone wishing to compete.

Nixon Reviews Public Welfare

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon confers today with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and other advisers as he prepares recommendations for revising the public welfare system.

Among those joining the chief executive and Agnew for the meeting at Nixon's waterfront home is Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there was no agenda for the session. However, part of the discussion was expected to revolve around a forthcoming presidential message to Congress on welfare revisions.

Other conference participants are Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch, and White House staff men H. R. Handelman, John D. Ehrlichman, Bryce N. Harlow and Harry Dent.

Nixon spent much of Friday on the water, yachting aboard the presidential boat Julie with friend and neighbor C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo. He also took a swim in Biscayne Bay in back of his home.

Top Aide Is Guessing Game

Nixon Lacks A 'Califano'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's seeming reversal on a hunger program dramatizes the pitfalls of a favorite Washington guessing game over who is the President's top lieutenant.

The answer after 3½ months appears to be no one—yet—and that President Nixon has made good so far on a post-election pledge there would be no empire building among his advisors.

"Their problem is that there's no Joe Califano, there's nobody you can go to and get a yes or no," said one federal official.

"It's a little fuzzy," said another.

Joseph Califano was an aide to former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He wielded almost absolute power on domestic issues during the waning months of the Johnson administration.

Although no such strongman has become visible in the Nixon administration, there is no lack of candidates.

No Coordination

Among those mentioned most frequently at the moment: economic counselor Arthur F. Burns, legal counsel John D. Ehrlichman, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Cabinet and agency officials who must deal daily with the White House, often on an urgent basis, appear divided over whether there is a need for a "Califano." Some say there is a lack of coordination in the executive mansion that wouldn't exist with one man totally in charge below the President.

Others say the current situation allows freer discussions of all issues on any one subject.

"It gets everything on the table," said one official.

Perhaps mentioned most frequently as the leading candidate for the White House power is economist Burns. He came to Washington only after winning guarantees he would not be closed out as some say he was while a member of the Eisenhower Council of Economic Advisors.

Burns Favorite?

Recent reports have credited Burns with watering down an ambitious welfare program being pushed by Finch and with killing proposals for an all-out war on hunger also favored by Finch and Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin.

Into the midst of the continuing guessing game this week dropped a new report that it wasn't Burns at all, but Daniel P. Moynihan who killed the hunger program by telling the President there was no evidence malnutrition in the United States is severe enough to affect learning powers of children. Moynihan is special White House assistant on urban affairs.

Such reports don't suggest that Moynihan, the only liberal Democrat among presidential advisors, is becoming the strongman. But they do tend to tarnish Burns' blossoming image as the man with the President's ear on all subjects.

Finch Likeliest

The guessers were jolted Tuesday night when the administration suddenly announced that instead of wanting $15 billion to expand hunger programs in fiscal 1971, it wanted $270 million. If the earlier reports were accepted, the new turn of events suggested still a third candidate for emerging strongman.

The likeliest person would be Finch, a long and trusted friend of Nixon who pushed hard for an expanded food program and who has a reputation for not giving up.

There has been a temptation in some quarters to picture Finch as Nixon's right arm. But Finch has appeared to go out of his way on several occasions to make it plain he has enough to do running the vast welfare establishment without being a clearinghouse for unrelated issues.

Some published reports and the comments of sources in Cabinet departments and agencies suggest Ehrlichman may be the one to emerge as the most influential, but he appears in this role in "inside" reports only sporadically.

While all this is going on, Atty. Gen. Mitchell is said to be spending part of every day at the White House. He also reportedly commented shortly before the inauguration that he wouldn't have accepted the post of attorney general without some assurance of a much broader and more powerful role in government.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Suzanne Marie Martin to Arthur Messer is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Martin, 207 Deer St. Mr. Messer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Messer of Gulliver. No date has been set for the wedding.

Teacher Sues School District

HIGHLAND PARK (AP)—A Highland Park High School teacher who was disciplined for telling police about a student's alleged witnessing of the New Bethel shootings, filed suit Friday against the school district.

Marlynn Marks, 33, complained in Wayne County Circuit Court that the district acted unconstitutionally and in violation of her union contract by removing her from classroom duties.

Also named in the complaint were the Highland Park Board of Education and Paul H. Emerich, superintendent of schools. Judge Thomas J. Foley set a hearing for May 23.

Miss Marks stated that the Board of Education had neither filed written charges against her nor held a "full, fair and impartial hearing."

The suit said that her "suspension and subsequent unlawful lockout" were "arbitrary and capricious" and violated her rights of free speech and other civil rights guaranteed under the U.S. constitution.

The New Bethel shootings involved the killing of a white police officer and wounding of another outside a church where the black separatist group, Republic of New Africa, was holding a meeting March 29. Police stormed the church and several citizens were wounded.

Milliken Moving Into Mansion

LANSING (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. William Milliken plan to move into the state's new $440,000 governor's residence Monday.

Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said Friday that a special committee had pledged of the needed $250,000 for furnishings and the way was clear for the governor's move from his $180-a-month East Lansing apartment.

The home, in a plush area of Lansing, was a gift to the state from wealthy trucking company executive Howard Sober.

The donor stipulated, however, that the state must pay for the furnishings which include several valuable antiques.

In Memoriam

Mayou

In loving memory of our dear daughter, sister and granddaughter, Joyce Kositzky Mayou, who passed away 13 years ago today, May 10, 1956.

Near a shady wall a rose once grew Budding and blossomed in God's free light Watered and fed by morning dew, Shedding its sweetness day and night As it grew and blossomed fair and true Slowly rising to loftier height. It came to a crevice in the wall Through which there shone a beam of light Onward it crept with added strength With never a thought of fear or pride It followed the light through the crevice-length And unfolded itself on the other side. The light, the dew, the broadening view, We found the same as they were before And it lost itself in beauties new, Basking its fragrance more and more Shall claim of death cause us to grieve And make our courage faint or fall Nay, let us faith and hope receive The rose still grows beyond the veil Scattering fragrance far and wide, Just as it did on days in yore, Just as it did on the other side, Just as it will forevermore.

Attend the Church of Your Choice

Who doesn't like to be remembered? It's natural to feel a certain glow when you receive a greeting card. It means that someone has thought of you, that someone cares.

Yet how foolish it would be for any of us to ever believe that we are alone or friendless. There is always Someone who cares, who cares very deeply . . . who cared enough to sacrifice His only Son for us.

At times we are all lonesome. Yet we are never really alone. There are few places in the world where we cannot, if we but look, find a church that will welcome us wholeheartedly. God's house is not like other houses. There is always room in it for one more. And when that one more has entered, there is room for yet another.

Start taking part in the life of the Church today!
